

EMERGING ARTIST AWARD

MARK MCCOURT

Mark McCourt was born in Warren, MI in 1976, moving to Oregon in 1986. He began to work with borosilicate glass in the winter of 1999. Since then he has studied under Master glass artists such as David Willis, Cesare Toffolo, Robert Mickelsen and Lucio Bubacco. Mark is now creating new glass artwork integrating sandblasting, oil painting and sand carving. Some of his future goals include: furthering education, expanding to more art galleries and creating more beautiful pieces of art to share. Mark currently lives in Eugene, Oregon and claims that living in the Pacific Northwest is the most peaceful and well suited environment for any glass artist searching for inner enlightenment. Being one with Mother Nature and her beauty is what inspires him most.
